Head of Drama

Head of Drama

Start date: September 2024

The Cowplain School is seeking to appoint a skilled and inspirational Head of Drama, who forms effective relationships with students, parents and colleagues and has the skills and drive to ensure our students receive the best possible learning opportunities. This would be a fantastic opportunity for an ambitious teacher of Drama to take a major step into leadership.

We are extremely ambitious for our 1000 students and have a strong vision to ensure that the life-chances of each young person at the school are enhanced by quality teaching, leading to excellent outcomes.

The Drama department consists of a Head of Department and one full time Drama teacher. The team also teach successfully in other departments in the school, which they enjoy and which enhances their relationships with children.

Drama is a very successful subject at the school and GCSE results are excellent. We have big plans for future investment in the performing arts including the building of a theatre and the development of a new music and PA building.

All KS3 students receive weekly lessons in Drama and it is also a popular subject at GCSE. We have an effective Drama curriculum in place but you will be given responsibility to develop and enhance it as well as placing our three central strands of thinking hard, developing character and understanding diversity at the heart of it, ensuring every student develops in those areas.

The facilities at the school include a well-equipped drama studio as well as practice rooms, all close to the other performing arts facilities, which include a dance studio and music room. All teachers teach in their own room, equipped with projector and screen, whilst every teacher receives a laptop.

The Performing Arts team has a strong commitment to extra-curricular activities, running many trips and further experiences for students, such as visits to West End shows and engaging visiting theatre companies, aiming to provide students with a range of rich and diverse experiences. Of course, there are many opportunities to perform, including the school shows.

The wider Performing Arts team is a strong one and is very mutually supportive. All contribute to providing exceptional performing arts experiences for the young people of the school

We offer all members of staff a full induction programme and significant opportunities to develop their expertise. Colleagues at the school work together to support each other and we have an active wellbeing committee.

As a leader at Cowplain we would invest in you to ensure that you develop the skills and expertise needed to ensure those that you teach acquire the positive attitudes, knowledge and understanding vital to their future. In addition, we would develop your leadership potential and start you on a journey to senior leadership.

Join us on our journey to excellence!

Thank you for your interest in the post of Head of Drama at The Cowplain School. I sincerely hope that you will continue your application and wanted to share with you a few words that I hope will convince you to apply.

This is an exciting time to be joining the school; I took up the post of Headteacher on May 1st 2013 and am looking for an outstanding Head of Drama to join myself; a superb leadership team; a committed staff and a knowledgeable governing body to take the school forward.

I know that applying for a new position is a big decision so I thought it would be useful to explain why I think The Cowplain School is the right choice for your career; Firstly, the school is part of a community that values it and parents and students enjoy attending Cowplain and are very proud of it.

Secondly, we have an exciting challenge ahead of us to raise the standards of attainment and achievement in the school.

Thirdly, the school provides a caring and inclusive environment that values each child. Staff are committed to ensuring the best outcomes for those that they teach or work with and there is a very positive feeling and ethos in the school which I am determined to maintain.

As a school, we have a curriculum which focusses on three key strands: working hard; developing character; and understanding diversity. We believe it is vital to educate the whole child, so we have a strong commitment to the personal development of students at Cowplain. I am extremely ambitious for the school and its students and require staff who share this ambition. I hope you are confident in your ability and I need you to have the ambition to be an excellent leader of Drama. Many colleagues who have joined us as middle leaders have gained promotion and assumed senior leadership positions within The Cowplain School or elsewhere.

The desire to accept the challenge should, I trust, be one that inspires and motivates you to apply; if you are successful I can offer you the chance to play a big part in the continued and future success of The Cowplain School, not just in leading and teaching Drama within the school, but also through the chance to enhance the whole school experience for each child.
